- Contribute to the automation of use cases along the investment value chain (e.g. development of tools for automatic generation of reports for our top management)
- Support in the implementation of digital solutions across teams
- Ad-hoc requests (e.g. portfolio and data analysis, capital market research on Bloomberg)

Key Requirements/Skills/Experience
- Excellent team player who enjoys working in an international environment
- Quick learner who can take initiatives and work independently
- Strong analytical skills and attention to details
- Interest in capital markets and technical topics such as machine learning would be a plus
- Previous working experience, e.g. internship in financial services or IT firms would be a plus

Qualifications and skills
- Ideally you are at the end of a Bachelor’s program / beginning of Master’s in Business Administration, Business Informatics, Finance, Economics, Statistics, Mathematics or equivalents
- Very good knowledge of English
- Very good knowledge of MS Excel, MS PowerPoint and MS Word
- Basic programming skills in VBA
- Coding experience in R or Python would be a plus
Additional Information
Entry date: As soon as possible, full-time or part-time (at least 5 to 6 months), registered as a student for the entire duration
